Chamber Mall, Poultry Show Set For Crowds This Weekend

"You digfooted, lop-eared, four-thumbed, nimble-nosed, chowder-headed, fog-brained, every-time-a-dud idiot!"

"Me?" says I, looking bewildered by the endless oath adjectively demeaning my person.

"You, you cotton-headed, numbskulled..."

"Whoa, hoss! You may have the right guy, but those kind words don't set too well," I interject.

"So hit me!"

WHAM! WHOMP! THUD!

Then I wake up, my knuckles asure blue, eyes bloody red, nodding myself out of a nightmare.

100-100-100

"What? Who? Where is..."

Then I laugh. It was a nightmare, riding hard on my subconscious plain, dusting off my ego, gouging the "I's" out of my head.

And I really laugh, healthfully I hope, at myself. It's only a dream or a nightmare and I was putting aside the imaginary sound-so calling me down and out.

Funny. Even my subconscious couldn't take a ribbing or a roasting, whichever it was, without poking back. The only not-so-funny thing is the bruised knuckles. And you should see the scars on the bed headboard.

100-100-100

This exact situation never happened to me. It may never have happened anywhere. But a near sequel surely happens every day, every minute in fact, to one of us, the us being people.

The saving factor in the people business (that is the job of being adult, mature, dignified) is the facility of laughing at oneself.

This may not sound much like an important attribute. But imagine the neurosis we would share if we weren't able to chuckle at our own lunatic selves when we slip on a banana peel and land splash in the puddle unhurt, or some such oddity.

The more successful in people business would arise without comment, dare laughter from any passerby and race for cover, sans snicker. But the really successful No. 1 man in people business would just sit there, outraged yet laughing uproariously at being best of all, himself.

Absurd examples? Right. But these are absurd times and the only ones who will outlive the scramble for success are the boys with the most priceless rapport of all—a sense of humor.

Cameron To Host Area P-TA Meet; 1960 Plans Set

Cameron was named host town for the 5th annual conference of the 20th District, Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers at their meeting in LaGrange last week.

In addition to receiving the bid to host the 1960 conference, Cameron's Parent Teachers Association was one of eight groups to receive a certificate of merit for evaluation out of 40 participating units and was awarded a grade of 94 on their yearbook.

Local representatives at the meeting were Mrs. E. O. Smith Jr., Mrs. W. C. Wallace, Mrs. O. G. Chamberlain, and Mrs. Howard Tucker.

Mrs. Smith met with the board of managers Thursday as district chairman of health and Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Chamberlain were named recorders for the workshops held Friday. Theme for the LaGrange meeting was "New Dimensions in Parent Teacher Relationship."

One of the highlights of the meeting was an address by Governor Price Daniel at a banquet given by the LaGrange Chamber of Commerce.

Gause Tragedy Truck Kills Child

A 9-year-old Gause youngster was crushed to death under the wheels of his father's logging truck in a tragic accident about 6:15 p.m. Tuesday.

Johnnie Michael Sowell, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Sowell, slipped under the rear dual wheels of the truck driven by his sister, Mary Francis Sowell, 14, according to Sheriff Carl Black.

Highway patrolman John Blansit and the county sheriff were called to the scene following the accident that happened in front of the Gause Baptist Church, three blocks north of US 79.

Dr. E. M. Boyd rushed the boy to a Hearne hospital, but the youth was dead on arrival. Funeral arrangements are pending at a Hearne funeral home.

Mary Francis was driving her father's truck around the block while some of the Sowell children, Johnnie among them, were playing a game of baseball. Sheriff Black said a friend of the girl, Bonnie Stubbs, 14, was riding in the cab, while four Sowell children were riding either in the cab or on the back.

Sheriff Black said the youngster apparently ran up alongside of the slow-moving vehicle, slipped and went under the right rear dual wheels. He said Mary Francis was barely moving the truck along at about 5 m.p.h.

One of Johnnie's brothers yelled to him to stop

Hal Senkel Wins Jaycee Road-e-o

Hal Lester Senkel, Buckholt senior, topped the field in the Jaycee Road-e-o last week in the third running of the safe-driving event in Cameron.

He and second place Curtis Fuchs, Buckholts, and third-place William Pagach, Cameron, will be practicing for the regional Road-e-o due in May.

Jaycee President Bill Crockett said that Senkel racked up an unusually high score that would place him in national competition if duplicated by the rangy Buckholts youth. Both second and third place winners followed with close scores.

The third driving event was held under lights at the Cameron Safeway store in west Cameron. Several hundred onlookers attended the contest during the three-hour running of the event.

Last year Fuchs won the Cameron contest, placed high in regional and competed in the state finals.

Winners at the national Road-e-o in Washington D. C. will win college scholarships valued at $2500 and down.

Crockett also announced plans for the annual Jaycee installation banquet scheduled for May 15 with state vice-president Harold Thrmann as the installing officer. Narvie Caperton is banquet chairman.

Crockett congratulated Road-e-o committeemen George Bowman, Don Humble, Richard Williams, Bob Zarosky, Caperton, Mark Reeves, Alvin Meyer for a job well done.

The driving course included parking test, driving in closed areas and written examinations.

H. B. McClellen Resigns Post As Service Officer

Formerly from Milano, McClellen first moved to Cameron as county tax assessor before being appointed veterans officer. He is a member of the American Legion, DAV, Veterans of Foreign Wars, secretary of the Odd Fellows Lodge, and past treasurer of the First Baptist Church.

Obermiller, who will assume his new duties May 1, has served as Chapter Commander and Adjutant of the Cameron Disabled American Veterans. He is also a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion.

The McClellens immediate plans include a trip to California in June and visits with their children, Mrs. W. H. Kolter in Houston, and Bryce McClellen in Garland.

Poultry Show Will Attract 90 Milam Entries

Cameron's annual Poultry Show will attract about 90 entries for judging and awards, according to Manager Richard Moseley.

Ribbons, trophies and cash prizes will be awarded top birds in two groups—pullets and cockerels, Moseley said. Presentation of awards will be made at an honors banquet 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the First Methodist Church Youth Center, Cameron.

Jim Knight, public relations manager for Alcoa, will be the featured speaker.

Showing the poultry entries sponsored by members of the Cameron Chamber will be the featured attraction of the Mall showing Saturday in downtown Cameron.

The poultry tent will be on the north side of the courthouse square.

Poultry Committee chairman Lester Byrd asked that all entries be copied by 8:30 a.m. Saturday when amateur judging will be conducted.

Professional judging by E. A. Parnell, Texas A&M College, will begin at 9 a.m. and continue through Saturday morning. Entries will be open for public view all day Saturday. The show closes at 5 p.m.

Chamber poultry sponsors and grovers will attend the Saturday evening chicken barbecue at the Methodist Youth Building, Moseley said.

Growers will represent every community in Milam County, and will include members of 4-H and Future Farmers of America clubs across the county.

Cameron Wins Volleyball Crown

City Gets Going On Cemetery Day

Mayor Bassel Wilson reminded Cameronites that today, April 30, is Cemetery Day in Cameron and invited citizens to join in a city drive to clean up the city cemetery.

Officials said that volunteers working on the various grave sites of family members, in a community effort similar to those in other cities, will be served refreshments during the day.

Cemetery Day will touch off a city-wide paint-up, clean-up campaign to be sponsored starting next week by the Cameron Chamber of Commerce.

Wilson said city workmen and equipment will be available all day today to carry off brush, weeds, and other materials removed from Oak Hill Cemetery.

The city will grade and widen the streetways through the cemetery today, he added.

"There are a number of plots needing care where no family heirs remain," Wilson noted. "It's asking very little for Cameron to care for the gravesites of those

City-Wide Program Will Start Friday

Cameron's annual Poultry Show will get a rousing send-off in this county seat city as the Cameron Chamber presents its second Mall-Double Dollar Day combination Friday and Saturday.

The much-copied Poultry Show will climax the two-day event in combination with about 20 Mall displays around the courthouse square and city-wide bargains both days.

Rated a "triple header" by Chamber officials, the three-way boost for Milam County poultry raisers will mark the second Mall in three months. It follows the successful Mall-Junior Livestock Show in early February.

Crowds Predicted

Chamber Manager Richard Moseley again predicted thousands of visitors to Cameron during the two-day effort, based upon an estimated 5,000 turnout for the first Cameron Mall.

New cars, farm implements, feeds and services and appliance displays will be included in the Mall showing.

And about 30 Cameron businesses are opening their doors with city-wide bargains in clothes, furniture, household goods, shoes and piece goods.

Three streets will be closed off for the two-day Mall and Poultry Show with the show tent located on E. First St., on the north side of the courthouse Saturday. (See diagram left.) Chamber President Milton Schiller invited all Cameronites and countians to the triple-treat Cameron Mall being boosted by the Chamber's poultry and trade and development committees.

"Cameron's continuing efforts through our merchandise bargains, Mall displays and special showings will prove Cameron wishes to serve Central Texans as a friendly shopping and trading center," Schiller said.

Special Invitation

"We especially invite all those Milam Countians who missed the first Cameron 'Mall-Stock Show,' he continued. "Five thousand visitors saved on Cameron bargains and enjoyed the best stock show in the city's history. We feel sure the Poultry Show will continue its well-established standard of excellence.

Auto and farm displays will surround the county courthouse and will include about 40 models of various cars, tractors, trucks and farm equipment. Other concerns will display feeds, services and appliances.

272 Called For May Draft Quota

The state quota for Texas draft boards in May calls for 272 men, Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state selective service director, announced Tuesday.

The state's May call of 272 compares with a quota of 310 for April and 364 for March. The May call is the state's share of a national quota of 6,000 men, all for the Army.

Colonel Schwartz also announced there would be no call for pre-induction physical and mental examinations in May.

Local board quotas for the May call already have been figured and are scheduled to be sent to the state's 137 local boards Tuesday. Ten boards will provide no men for this call.

The May quota will be filled with men who are at least 22 years old on May 1, with the exception of volunteers or delinquents who may be younger.

Granger Plans Open House

GRANGER—The whole countryside is talking about plans for entertaining former Grangerites when they return to Granger on May 9 for the 12th annual home coming of former citizens of the little central Texas town, 50 miles from the capital of the state.

There will be hordes of horses, several bands, floats and entries of all sorts in the mile-long parade at 10:00 a.m. led by the Williamson County Sheriff's posse headed by Sheriff Henry Matyssek.

A program at 11:00 a.m. features 12 speakers representing a dozen different professions. Harry Gilstrap of Austin, a native of Granger, will be master of ceremonies. Luncheon will be served at First Methodist Church with members of the Women's Society of Christian Service as hostesses. Exhibits will be displayed in the building formerly housing the Zelenevitz jewelry store on East Main street.

Mrs. Nina Smith Grimes is chairman of exhibits.

There will be a flower show exhibiting three categories of home-grown (non-professional) flowers: pot plants, roses, and mixed arrangements, with first, second and third prizes in each category. Mrs. Jean Jennings is chairman of flower show.

Dedication services will be held for the new post office, announces Postmaster Bartosh. Senator Charles Herring of Austin will deliver the dedicatory address at 1:30 p.m. Registration will be at City Hall with Mrs. Ura Fuller as chairman. Class reunions will be held throughout the day. A dance in the evening with music by Gilbert Kautz' orchestra will conclude the day's agenda.

Co-chairmen for the 1959 homecoming are Mary Elizabeth Fox of Southwestern University, a former Grangerite, and Hubert Giribec, Granger businessman. Mrs. Jean Jennings is corresponding secretary and Mrs. Hapel Hammack recording secretary.

Collision Injures Wayne Mann, City In Front Of Home

Wayne Mann, 803 E. 15th St., is recovering from injuries suffered in a two-vehicle collision 5:30 p.m. Friday in front of his home. Chief Chester Simons said that Mann, riding a small motorcycle recently purchased for his son, collided with a 1951 Studebaker driven by Mrs. Clara Dillon, 1101 W. Main St.

Mann was taken to a local hospital where he was treated for a broken collar bone and four broken ribs.

Simons said damage was slight to both vehicles.

He said that Mann rode out of his driveway and failed to see Mrs. Dillon's car. His view was apparently blocked by a car parked in front of his house.

Mrs. Dillon was driving east on 15th Street when the collision occurred.

Calhoun Co. Sets Fishing Festival

PORT LAVACA—A program designed to be one of the largest holiday week end attractions on the Texas Gulf Coast for the fishermen and their families has been listed for the second annual Calhoun County Fishing Festival.

Dated for July 3-5 and sponsored by the Port Lavaca Jaycees, the Festival will offer more than $2,500 in prizes. The festival phase, however, will be only a portion of the Festival. Other items booked for the agenda include a parade with floats and dignitaries, Miss Port Lavaca Pageant, street carnival operated by more than a dozen local civic clubs and organizations, fireworks, dance, boat races, barbecue, reception for all fish tournament participants and radio interviews.

"We are determined to provide a real holiday week end of relaxation and fun for the sportsmen and their families," Jaycee President Bert West stated. Trout, flounder, drum, gafftop and redfish will be the eligible fish for the tournament. Catches must be made in waters of Calhoun County and tournament weigh stations will be manned at Indianola, Port O'Connor, Magnolia Beach, Seadrift, Point Bayfront park—festival headquarters. A total of 50 prizes will be awarded. A large fish caught in each of the five divisions, plus grand prizes for the largest fish caught in each division during the entire three days. Extra special awards will be given for the fisherman coming the farthest distance, for the most fish registered by a fisherman, etc. Top prize of the entire tournament will be a 14-foot aluminum fishing boat and trailer—going to the person bringing in the biggest trout. Entry tickets, priced at $1.50 and good for all three days, must be obtained before July 3.

FHA Offering Water Co-op

A water facilities program of the Farmers Home Administration can provide organized groups with a constant supply of pure water.

Roy M. Wright, local county supervisor of FHA, said today that through the formation of a water facilities association, local groups of farmers may establish a system for a permanent supply of water on their farmsteads. Wright stated that at least two such groups have organized in the central Texas water supply flowing through a disaster area and now have a permanent supply.

The general steps that must be taken by local people are these: A group of rural citizens, a majority of whom obtain the major source of their income directly from the farm, decide that they want a rural water distribution system. They then form an association, a non-profit corporation, under Texas statutes.

They then elect a board of directors, ranging from 5 to 21 members, who serve for life, or until they move out of the boundaries of water association.

The corporation then establishes the number of customers available to the system and sets up the cost of non-dividend paying shares necessary to provide 10 per cent of the estimated cost of the proposed system.

The members must also obtain rights-of-way easements which must be provided FHA free of any costs and with reasonable legal assurance that these easements will be undisturbed for a period of 40 years, the life of the FHA's water facility loan.

When these shares of stock, non-transferable, from member to member, but from member to the corporation, are sold, the directors then obtain the services of an attorney and an engineering firm to make preliminary survey of the proposed distribution system.

A letter of application is then made to the FHA, setting forth the operating details of the association.

The loans can range from a minimum of $100.00 up to a maximum of $250,000.00, Wright said.

Further information may be obtained from the local FHA office located in the Henderson Building in Cameron.

YOUNG IDEAS from Polly Ponde

Q: "Is it alright to telephone a boy and ask him for a date?"

A: "It's much better to wait and let the boy do the asking. However, there are times when this rule can be stretched a little."

If your club or sorority is having a dance or party, you'll be expected to invite a boy to be your date for the evening. In this case, though, it's wiser to choose somebody you know fairly well—rather than a boy you've never dated before.

If you're giving a party and would like to invite a boy you don't know very well (but would like to know better)—it's quite alright to call and ask him: "He'll probably think it's a very good idea—especially if you've made a point of inviting a few of his friends beforehand."

Cameron Places High...

Cameron drew worthy recognition in interscholastic competition at the district level in the last two weeks as Yoe High School literary students and tracksters earned district first place by a margin of 87 points.

And several Cameron youngsters placed well in regional competition at Brenham in AA literary and track events.

It speaks well for Cameron to produce a well-balanced program of academic achievement. In a satellite age, the development of students' academic facilities is an important if not urgent part of their primary and secondary schooling.

Where once all emphasis was on athletic prowess, now schools are placing enthusiastic emphasis on the academic in competition among schools and in the daily classroom.

There is equal interest in literary achievement in the spring interscholastic competition. In years past, athletic competition was of major concern. Now the interest is balancing.

Cameron's showing indicates the progress of Yoe High School's academics. And it tells us that Cameron students take to the speed-up in classroom studies.

The Little River Philosopher

In All Directions At Same Time
Scientists Now In Race To Go

Dear editor:
Sooner or later I knew it would happen.

According to an article I read last night in a newspaper I picked up after it fell out of my neighbor's mail box after I tilted it a little, the United States and Russia are now in a race to see which one can penetrate the earth's surface first.

As I understand it, the earth's surface or crust is about eighteen miles thick on the average, and what's underneath nobody knows for sure. However, there are spots in the ocean where the crust is only two or three miles thick, and since man can drill a hole four miles deep, scientists are now figuring on lowering their drilling instruments down to the bottom of the ocean floor near Puerto Rico and from there trying to penetrate the crust.

At the same time, Russia is in the same race, although nobody knows where she's trying.

Consequently, the way it looks to me from my vantage point out here on my Johnson grass farm, the world is now in a race to see how far out and how far down it can go at the same time.

This is known as going in all directions at the same time. I know the feeling it's sort of like spinning your tractor wheels trying to go forward while slipping sideways down a hill. It's like gunning your motor while standing still in a traffic jam.

And you can't criticize the scientists. Everybody's doing it. It's the same thing as working fifty hours to buy a power lawnmower to save an hour's pushing with the old style model once a week. Although you can still turn a cow in and graze it off with no lawnmower at all.

As far as I'm concerned, it's perfectly all right for man to explore space in the morning and the inner core of the earth in the afternoon, with his nights free to figure up the tax bill for both ventures, but there's still plenty of interest right here in eye-range of my front porch. For example, there's a newspaper out there on the ground now with a headline saying the cost of living index has gone up another notch. Mine hasn't. Ain't no notches left on mine.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Capital Report ...

Houses Could Use Before-Tax Coolin'

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN—Most people in or connected with the 56th Legislature are comforting themselves with the knowledge that air conditioning was installed in House and Senate chambers last year.

It may be pretty hot, they say, before a majority of both houses come to agreement on new taxes.

House members systematically cut to pieces the big omnibus tax bill (HB 727). As originally proposed, it would have raised $300,000,000, mostly from scores of new selective sales taxes on items ranging from face paint to house paint. After members got through cutting out the things that brought the loudest howls, it was down to less than one-fourth its starting size.

It was then given preliminary approval (second reading) by the narrowest of votes, 74 to 72, counting speaker Waggoner Carr's 'Yes' vote. Carr stepped down from the speaker's rostrum to plead with members to pass the bill, even though it had been stripped to practically nothing, so as to "get something to the senate."

Senate cannot consider a tax bill until it has been passed by the House. But for the Senate, getting the shattered fragments of HB 727 is like getting four wheels and some broken glass with the invitation to make an automobile.

TASK AHEAD

In the days that remain until May 12, or in special sessions thereafter, the Legislature faces these decisions:

1. Appropriations — House has passed a bill calling for $322,000,000 in general revenue. Senate, a bill for $302,000,000. Differences must be adjusted in conference committee, which neither presiding officer seemed in a hurry to appoint. This could mean some sort of agreement that there would be no final decision on the appropriations bill until a tax program emerges.

2. Taxes — Either house's spending bill, with the deficit added in, would require something around $200,000,000 in new tax money. This, of course, is certain, must be found, somewhere.

3. School improvement — Backers of the Hale-Aikin Committee program will push for adoption of at least part of that program. It would add some $100,000,000 a year to state expenses.

Abandoned Property Falls
In a vote that surprised many, the House killed the abandoned property bill, 80 to 67.

Proposed measure would have allowed the state to take over dormant bank accounts and property held by insurance companies, utilities and oil and gas companies if it had gone unclaimed seven years.

Some felt that Gov. Price Daniel, who had fought strenuously for the bill, might regard its defeat as third term fodder. He said at one time its passage meant more to him than anything since the tidelands.

Barmore, LaGrone Join Marine Corps

Larry Barmore of Route 3, Cameron and Dennis LaGrone of Route 1, Milano, seniors at Milano High School, enlisted in the Marine Corps on March 10 but are remaining in school to graduate with their class. They will leave for San Diego, Calif., on June 8 to begin Basic Training.

Marine Recruiting Sergeant Frank Bukowsky states the "120 Day Delay Program," is ideal for young men or women enlisting now, they graduate, leave for training on a date they elect up to four months later.

The advantage to the young person enlisting in this program is two fold. One, the time spent in the program is counted towards the lawful military obligation (in case of young men), and two the enlistee is assured of being accepted as a Marine regardless of any quota limitation imposed on the Corps.

New SS Rulings Up Recognition

AUSTIN—Recent amendments to the Selective Service regulations provide for greater recognition by local boards of service in the Reserve and National Guard, Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state director of Selective Service, said Thursday.

The changes reflect a policy of not inducting men satisfactorily participating in military training programs while sufficient numbers are available who are not taking part in any such training.

The changes in regulations were made by the President in Executive Order No. 10801.

Under the amended regulations, men who acquire deferments or exemptions on initial entry into the National Guard or Reserve keep those deferments or exemptions on transfer to another component so long as they continue to serve satisfactorily.

Reserve provide that men can discharge their military obligation by eight years of satisfactory service including not less than three months of active duty for training.

The amended regulations also provide for the retention of this opportunity on transfer. These changes reflect provisions of Public Law 85-722, approved during the last Congress.

The amendments to the regulations also authorize the deferment of Guardsmen or Reservists for satisfactory participation in the Standby or Retired Reserve. Previously, only satisfactory participation in the Ready Reserve was basis for deferment from induction.

Another amendment provides that a man who ceases to be a member of any Reserve component after six years of satisfactory Ready Reserve service shall be considered as having completed service.

4-H Clubs Present Coronation, Meet

Milam County's 4-H Clubs joined efforts Saturday to produce their annual dress revue and coronation of the county king and queen. The coronation and fashion show were held at the Methodist Church recreation hall.

Frankie Mikulec of Marak and LaVelle Fischer of Buckholts were named King and Queen of Milam County 4-H Clubs and were crowned by Diana Mikulec, 1953 queen. Carroll Wayne Glaser was narrator.

Runners up in the contest were Margaret Vansa and Don Glaser.

Cold, Wet Soil Slows Planting

By J. D. Moore

Soil too wet, too cold, accounted for spring planting moving at a snail's pace last week. Most of the corn and maize are planted in the county and are up to a good stand. However, some are of the opinion that a small acreage of maize will be replanted due to poor growth. Most of the maize and corn has a yellow color and has not made the desired growth due to the cold, wet soil. Very little nitrogen is active and available for plant growth when soil temperatures are below 55 degrees.

Cantaloupes were the hardest hit. Most of this crop will have to be replanted. In addition to the inconvenience and expense, the replanting will cause the crop to be some twenty to thirty days late in reaching the market. Usually, the early truck crops bring the best market price.

Farmers were fortunate not to have their cotton planted as seedling cotton just can not take cold, damp, soil and usually develops seedling diseases under these conditions.

On the favorable side of the ledger, good rains have assured adequate moisture for all crops and with warm, dry weather, growing conditions will be ideal.

Bugs Graze On Vegetables

By J. D. Moore

Several families have brought in Harlequin bugs to be identified. These insects are attractively colored, showing an orange and black pattern across the top of their body. The general shape of the body is in the form of a shield. The Harlequin bugs pass through the winter in the adult stage. They winter under rubbish or where ever they can find protection.

These overwintered adults come out in the spring and feed on cabbage, potatoes and other early garden plants. They have sucking mouth parts and obtain their food by sucking sap from the garden plants.

Control—These insects may be controlled by spraying with two quarts of toxaphene or 1 quart of parathion per acre. They also may be controlled by dusting with 20 per cent toxaphene dust, 2 per cent parathion dust or 20 per cent Sabadilla dust, or D.D.T.

Potato Bugs

The common potato bug is due to appear on the leaves of the potatoes unannounced and gardeners should watch for these insects. The adult beetle is somewhat less than half an inch long and about two thirds this width; its back is rather high and rounded.

It is clay yellow and has 10 longitudinal black lines on its back. The potato bug spends the winter as an adult in the ground but the insects come out quite early in the spring. The potato bug has chewing mouth parts and feed on the leaves of the potato plants.

Control—D.D.T. used as a spray or dust will control this insect. Two quarts of D.D.T. spray per acre or 10 pounds of 10 per cent D.D.T. dust per acre should give good control.

"Chlorosis" (yellow leaves on plants)—There are several causes of the yellowing of leaves of plants known as "chlorosis". Certain plants growing in highly calcareous or alkaline soils such as black soil, often show this yellowing of the foliage, usually caused by deficiency of iron. Although present in abundance, the iron in alkaline soils is not available to most plants.

Control—"chelated iron" can be purchased at local stores to correct this condition. Recommendations for the use of this material are printed on the containers.

Pecan Nut Casebearer

Pecan nut casebearers are tiny green worms that hatch from eggs and feed on the tender stems of the pecan trees until the small pecans get to be the size of a cottonseed. These small worms then bore into the tiny pecans causing considerable loss to the pecan crop. Many times the loss is 75 per cent of the pecans on a tree.

Control—Ordinarily, only one application of spray is required to control the nut casebearer. However, if trees surrounding the treated area are not sprayed, moths may enter the sprayed area and a serious infestation of second-generation larva may develop. When the tips of the small pecans have turned brown, spray with parathion, malathion, or DDT. This spray schedule usually begins about May 10, for Milam County. A fungicide to control diseases on the pecan tree could be mixed with the worm spray. Add 2 pounds of Zineb to each 100 gallons of spray for a dual purpose spray. For small amounts of spray, use 2 to 4 teaspoons of the above material per gallon of water.

Eastern tent caterpillars are worms that produce a heavy silver-gray tent-like web in the crotches of trees and can do quite a bit of damage to young tender foliage. They seem to prefer plum trees but are found on other trees as well as shrubbery in the yard. These insects can be controlled by using D.D.T., malathion, or toxaphene as a spray.

Mexico, US Plan Joint Field Study

Livestock producers of the southwest should be interested in a recent U. S. Department of Agriculture announcement which said that coordinated field studies of the screwworm have been organized by Mexico and the United States. The joint effort is part of the Mexican U.S. program of cooperation discussed by the Presidents of the two countries in their meeting in Acapulco, Mexico, last February.

Personnel assigned by USDA's Agricultural Research Service are working with Mexico and the states of Texas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Arizona and California, to learn more about the habits of the screwworm fly, and to determine if the method of combatting the screwworm, now being used in southeastern states, can be applied in Mexico and the southwest.

This method involves use of radioactive cobalt to make laboratory-reared screwworm male flies sterile. When sterile male flies are released in large numbers over infested areas they mate with the native female flies and there by prevent them from producing fertile eggs. The program in the south east has been underway for about a year and has resulted in less than 100 cases where normally thousands of cases are reported each month in warm weather.

The survey will serve to determine where the screwworm overwinters in the southwest and Mexico and how terrain and climate or habits of the fly. Too, information on the numbers and kinds of animals attacked and the relative abundance of infestations during each season will be obtained.

The information collected will be correlated with topography and climate to reveal any pattern of the fly's habits that will make it susceptible to the sterile fly method. Until such information is available, no reliable evaluation of the new method for use in the southwest can be made.

Upper, Lower Brushy Watershed Progress Moves In 'High Gear'

Progress on the Upper Brushy and Lower Brushy Watersheds has finally moved into "high gear" according to soil conservation authorities. Contractors are working on two structures near Round Rock and contracts have been let on several other structures with plans being made to let contracts on more Watershed officials feel that by the end of 1959 twenty-three of the fifty-eight planned structures will be either completed or nearly completed.

These dams are referred to as flood prevention dams and are designed to hold the water up for a period after heavy rains, then let it out slowly to prevent overflow of the bottomlands.

Even though Milam county will get only 2 of the 58 structures planned on Brushy, the county will gain by the channel improvement and reduction of damage caused by overflows.

Tom Murray's Column

"WILL HE strike out?" a visitor to the Austin Senator press box asked sports editor Lou Maysel, "or will he hit a homer?"

The man in question, Victoria Rosebud outfielder Frank Howard, for whom Los Angeles dished up $108,000, had a three-two count and the bases empty in a game he had already put on ice with tremendous hitting.

No sooner had the question been offered than Howard, who at 6-7 245-pounds is called the greatest thing to hit baseball since Babe Ruth, produced the answer.

At the last second he swung at an inside toss and golfed the ball 60 feet over the left field wall at the 400 foot mark—one handed, yet.

"My hand slipped off," he said shyly when asked about the one-arm poke even the free-swinging Mickey Mantle would claim.

Sports writers, who had heard of Howard's spring training antics with the Dodgers, beat a path to the Rosebud training room.

"Frank Howard will be the greatest thing since Ruth," said his manager, a dumpy, unathletic appearing chap. But you listened. This manager is none other than Pistol Pete Reiser, an immortal major leaguer himself. One who would still be lamming the ball out of diamond yards but for the guy who invented the outfield wall.

"I have absolutely never seen anything like him," Reiser beams. "He's something baseball has waited for since Ruth. If a man ever breaks the Babe's home-run record Frank will do it.

"Mantle? Mickey Mantle can't compare with Frank Howard," Reiser fumed. "Frank uncoils like a whip and one of his good drives will make Mantle's tape-measure drives look like popups! No, Mantle can't compare to this boy!" some worried over the fate of the Texas League, but that will not last, if Frank Howard remains with Victoria, the Dodger AA farm team.

The AAA American Association, which dipped into the TL and hid off with Houston, Dallas and Fort Worth has had no gate attraction like him since Willie Mays. But people who know, say Howard is destined to become greater than Mantle, Mays, Snider, Berra or any of the modern power hitters.

He hit 37 homers for Reiser at Green Bay, in Class D his first year in organized ball, while compiling a .333 batting average. "The amazing thing about this guy," Reiser insists, is that he is such a wonderfully unspoiled kid.

"Everything's Mr. this and Mr. that. He's entirely appreciative of his opportunity and he works every day to improve. Yes, I think they gave him $108,000, to sign. But what ever it was it was not enough.

"They will get that back on one major league road-trip with Frank. Why, when he rares back and swats that thing, it just goes into orbit!"

Howard went up with the Dodgers at tail-end of the '58 season and hit one homer, a 500-footer, "off Mr. Roberts," in Connie Mack Stadium.

"That Howard hit that ball on a line," the Phils' centerfielder moaned. "The ball hit a sign high above centerfield so hard I thought it would fall over on me."

If you have never seen the greatest future baseball slugger of all time swing a club, make it a point to oil up the buggy and take in one of the Victoria Rosebud games.

It will be a treat, you will never forget. This is your opportunity to say, "I knew the new Babe Ruth when ...."

Outdoors In Texas ...

Minnows Lures, Big Catches

By Vern Sanford

Last week I started to write a column about the various natural baits. By the time I had finished with the earthworm I had run out of space. Must have been a long worm.

But I'll say one thing—it's difficult to say too much about the worm as a fish bait. Properly used it will lure fish—not only bream, for which it is most commonly employed as an enticement—but catfish, bass, and most other fresh water varieties.

I made a guess that the minnow was the second most popular natural bait.

As with earthworms, the minnow runs into hundreds of varieties, and fish will eat them all. Generally speaking, fish like best the bait that's native to the area, which means that the spottail minnow is the Texas favorite.

In the spring it's no trick to catch spottails in a net or trap. They are near the surface and easily seen in clear water. They like swift water with a rocky or sandy bottom, for the spawning season.

Let me remind you now, however, that there are all kinds of local laws about capturing and transporting Texas minnows. So check with your game warden if you propose to take a large quantity and move them across county lines.

In off seasons—that is, when the minnows are deep and can't be readily taken, you save time by buying Mexican, Oklahoma and Minnesota minnows from the bait shops.

Some fishermen don't like these minnows, for one reason or another but my experience is that fish will strike them all, or any of them. Frankly, I don't think that when a fish is hungry, he stops to look up a minnow's pedigree.

To catch minnows, the seine is an ancient and still effective article the use of which is to familiar to be explained here.

A more recent tool is the drop, or umbrella type net, which is handy because one man can use it. I've seen commercial baitmen take thousands of spottails out of streams with this kind of net.

There are various kinds of minnow traps. All are effective when placed in a good spot where minnows live, and especially when baited with cracker crumbs. When you fail to catch minnows by these methods, there's always the tackle and bait shop.

Wherever you get your minnows the big problem is to keep them alive and transport them to your favorite fishing hole. That may be many miles from where you live.

In cold weather, this is not much of a problem. But when the hot summer sun boils down, your minnows will start to turn belly up if not handled properly.

Your best bet is to use the so-called "porous" bucket. It allows a certain amount of breathing, or aeration, in the water. Keep the top on. Minnows will live a long time in this kind of bucket. In case of doubt, drop in a few ice cubes. They give off oxygen as they melt.

One caution about porous buckets. Never dip one into the water. If you do, it will lose its breathing ability. From then on, you might as well haul your minnows in a lard can.

When you select your minnows, keep in mind the kind of fish you seek on the current trip. It goes without saying that big minnows are for big fish. Small minnows are for small fish.

If you are after crappie you want minnows about two inches long or less. If bass is your game white or black—the minnow might be between two and three inches long. If you're going to bait a trotline with minnows, the biggest ones you can get are the best.

I use a medium-sized minnow. The little fish can't take a big minnow, but a big fish will take a smaller minnow. Using a two-inch bait, you stand a chance to get anything that comes your way.

Now, how do you hook your minnow?

Hold a minnow in your left hand, bottom side up. Take the hook in your right hand. Insert the hook just where the gills come together and pull upward and outward, so that the point of the hook emerges between and forward of the minnows eyes, missing the middle of the head.

For a long time, I hooked minnows through the back. That is, behind the dorsal fin and just deep enough to miss the backbone. The minnow stays alive that way. He is free to swim around if you give him some latitude in the way you rig up.

But I have reached the conclusion that the best way to hook a minnow is through the lips. This method permits you to give the minnow a more natural action when you lift your rod. The minnow es forward, head first, when pulled in. Such a method also permits the minnow to stay alive for a long time.

Artificial lure manufacturers strive to get the action of a wounded minnow. But here you have the real thing. You're offering the fish a real, live, wounded minnow. (you wounded him when you strung him on the hook. This kind of bait is about the most attractive of all to a fish.

Absence of weight will give the minnow more freedom to be natural. It will increase his charms to the fish. If you use a lead weight, use a small one and place it two or three feet above the hook.)

If you should get caught in the rocks, or brush, and you are using a light wire hook, such as an Aberdeen, you will discover that the wire hook will give enough to let you pull free more readily than you could with a stiffer hook.

Keep the minnow moving.

To begin with, if he is free swimming minnow (no lead weight attached to him) cast him out where you think he will drift down into bass territory—then give him slack and let him swim. When your line shows that he has reached bottom, or some other refuge, lift the rod so as to move him slightly. Pretty soon, by the direction your line is leading, you can locate him.

Lift the line again, gently, to give him a natural action. Keep working him your way, even though you think he may not have reached the spot where you thought the fish might be. You could be wrong. Work him in slowly, adjusting your sights, and cast again.

If there are fish in water, you stand a mighty good chance of getting them by using this method.

For Cen-Tex Museum

Historic Homes In Salado Benefit Tour

SALADO—The picturesque little town of Salado, which flanks the banks of Salado creek in the heart of Central Texas is destined to come into its own again as a state-wide point of historic interest and treasury of many things interpretive of the rich heritage of Texas and the Southwest through the establishment of a museum there.

A two-story native stone building east of famed Stage Coach Inn in Salado has been acquired by the 30-member board of trustees of Central Texas Area Museum, Inc.

To aid in financing the museum project, four Salado homes have been opened for public tours on May 1, 2 and 3. Tickets for the entire tour are 2.50 for adults and $1 for children under 12. Proceeds will go toward establishment of the museum, which will be named the Central Texas Area Museum.

Friday and Saturday the homes will be open from 9 a.m. to 12 and from 1 to 6 p.m. on Sunday the homes will be open from 1 to 6 p.m.

Included in the tour will be Robertson House, ancestral home of Col. E. Sterling C. Robertson, which has been in the same family for over 100 years and is now occupied by the Sterling C. Robertsons; the Dr. Welborn Barton home, owned by Mrs. Naomi Tullis and Major and Mrs. Charles K. Morgan of Bermuda and occupied by Mrs. Tullis; and the W. R. Berry home, owned and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Fletcher.

At Robertson House, a well-known historic landmark in Texas, a number of items not shown before will be on exhibit. These include old glass; documents that represent each period of Texas history, beginning with colonization under Mexican rule; and early family portraits done by traveling artists.

The H. C. DeGrummond home, never opened before for a tour, features elegance of the Old World blended with Deep South and Texas traditional pieces and architecture.

Focal points will be a collection of old glass; a wig cabinet belonging to Mr. DeGrummond's mother; a large, velvet-lined silver cabinet hand-carved and put together with pegs; a masterpiece painting of "Christ in the House of Mary and Martha" by Jacopo Bassano; a hand-carved Elizabethan cupboard; and furniture imported from France.

Of special interest at the Fletcher home will be a collection of English and American pewter from 125 to 300 years old; a collection of Dickens character plates; and collections of books, maps and autographed documents.

Included in the book collection is a Nevell's History of Texas printed in 1833 with the original maps, and 1,200 books on Texas history. In the fine books section many beautiful bindings, "Herbal," one of the earliest forms of doctor books and written in 1657 by Dr. Nicholas Culpepper, contains 400 copper engraved and hand-colored pictures of herbs for the treatment of many ills.

Others in the collection of rare books are a 1701 edition of Aesop printed on parchment and notable for copper medallions, and a 16-volume Halliwell - Phillips folio of Shakespeare valued at $13,500.

Time rolls backward intriguingly at the home of Mrs. Naomi Tullis. Of major interest are the dining room and the kitchen in the basement of the three-story house, which have been left as they were originally.

Native stone walls and hand-hewn cedar beams provide the background for the fire place in the kitchen, a little wood-burning cook-stove; a round dining table with its legs in crockery "cannisters" which in the old days held water to keep crawling insects off the tanning and preserving; and pattern-punched, tinroasted safes for holding dishes and left-over foods.

The remainder of the 15-room homes is furnished with family handed down pieces, including hand-braided and hooked rugs, needlepoint upholstered love seats, an antique combination high chair and stroller, a collection of pressed glass, Dresden plates and Prussian plates.

Pearson Chevrolet Shows Model Sport Sedan, Impala

Chevrolets new Bel Air Sport Sedan now available at Earle Pearson Chevrolet

A new sport sedan is now available. Earle Pearson offers a Chevrolet, 100 S. Travis.
The car is in the Bel Air series and was inspired by universal admiration for the distinctive 1959 "hardtop" styling introduced exclusively as an Impala sport sedan. The Bel Air model makes available the same sportive appearance at a more moderate price, according to Earle Pearson, local dealer.
The sport sedan, or "four-door hardtop" as it is more popularly known, is comparatively new in the postwar automotive field. Patterned after the two-door hardtop in which side windows roll completely into the body, the car boasts superlative visibility and a light, airy appearance.
In the 1959 Chevrolet overall design, the sport sedan is especially attractive and two inches lower than other Bel Air models. The roof is flat and overhangs the compound curvature of the broad rear window. Features of the two other sedans in the Bel Air series are otherwise incorporated. Luxury interior appointments and upholstery color-keyed to exteriors are points in common. Body identifications include a full-length, stainless steel molding with a depressed Snowcrest White central area and the Bel Air name in script.
In addition to the new Bel Air available through Earle Pearson Chevrolet complete line of popular priced new Chevrolet cars and trucks. Pearson also operates an OK used car lot at 1st and Crockett Streets directly behind his new car show room.

Pack School Childs Lunch With Nutrition

Only one child in six starts the day with an adequate breakfast, recent studies show. That makes it doubly important that youngsters — and adults, too — get an adequate lunch — one that's packed with real nutrition, extension foods and nutrition specialist remind us.

Packing an adequate lunch, takes no more time than the other kind. It simply takes some knowledge of what to include and a little planning and organization.

These basic foods need to be included in an adequate lunch: milk at least ½ pint, vegetables and fruit, one serving of a main dish of meat, cheese, eggs, fish, fowl, dried beans, peas or peanut butter and bread, preferably enriched or whole grain.

Variety adds interest and appeal. Crisp, raw carrot or celery sticks green pepper rings, stuffed celery, potato salad, vegetable soup in a thermos, or tangy tomato juice are vegetable soup in a thermos, or tangy tomato juice are vegetable suggestions. Colorful fruit—raw, dried or canned—is easy to include.

Easiest way to pack the main dish is to make it up in sandwich form. For occasional variety, use fried chicken, hard cooked or deviled eggs or chile-concarne. Use fruit and nut breads for a flavor change.
